

Agata Magdalena Bielecka-Dabrowa, MD, PhD, Associate Professor, FESC, specialist in cardiology

She is a consultant cardiologist at the Military Medical Academy University Hospital - Central Veterans and Associate Professor of Cardiology and Head of Laboratory of Cardiac Diagnostics at Department of Hypertension, Medical University of Lodz. She focuses on patients with not only heart problems (especially heart failure) but also multidisciplinary cardiological problems, doing research in the field of cardiology and training students from all over the world in English Division of Medical University of Lodz.

She obtained her MD at the Clinic of Cardiology of the Department of Cardiology and Cardiac Surgery of the Medical University in Lodz, Poland. She has authored more than 60 full text papers and was a leader of completed 4 research grants. In 2015 she has received postdoctoral grant by L'Oréal and Ministry of Science and Higher Education for Women in Science. Her research interests include the pathophysiology of heart failure, echocardiography, hypertension, biomarkers, and novel treatments.