

Arrigo F.G. Cicero, MD, PhD, is Board graduated in Clinical Pharmacology, Full-time clinical researcher by the Medicine and Surgery Department of the University of Bologna (Italy). He also works as medical consultant by the S. Orsola-Malpighi University Hospital of Bologna (Italy), managing an outpatient clinic for patients affected by hyperlipidemia and/or hypertension. He is author of more than 360 full paper published in international scientific journals (240 of them available on Pub-Med), with a total 2014 impact factor >630 and an h-index= 42. He is also member of the editorial board of some international peer-reviewed journals, among which Nutrition Metabolism and Cardiovascular Disease, High Blood Pressure & Cardiovascular Prevention, and Clinical Lipidology. He is reviewer for main international journals in the field of internal medicine and cardiovascular disease prevention, among which BMJ, the Lancet, PLOS one, Annals of Medicine, Circulation, Hypertension, Atherosclerosis, and American Journal of Cardiology.