

Piotr Jankowski - professor at the Jagiellonian University in Kraków (Poland), cardiologist, invasive cardiologist. Chairman of the Health Promotion Committee of the Polish Cardiac Society (from 2011), Member of the Board of the Krakow Association of Physicians (from 2011), Member of The Board of the Polish Cardiac Society (from 2011 to 2015), Chairman of the Working Group on Epidemiology and Prevention, Polish Cardiac Society (from 2009 to 2011), ESC national prevention coordinator for Poland (from 2010). Author of over 300 scientific contributions. Laureate of numerous scientific awards (among others: Award of the Minister of Health, Award of the Polish Cardiac Society, Award of the Polish Society of Hypertension, J. Widimsky Award, Award of the "Promocja Zdrowia" Foundation, "Honoris Gratia" Award). Member of editorial boards and reviewer in several national and international scientific journals. Main topics of interest relate to prevention of cardiovascular diseases, mechanisms of atherosclerosis development and invasive cardiology.