

Welcome to IAPR Conference in Gdańsk, Poland

Psychology of Religion and Spirituality:

New Trends and Neglected Themes

Deadline for abstracts is extended: MARCH 1st, 2019

August 31 - September 3, 2019

Workshops August 30 – 31, 2019

Welcome to a new challenge! The International Association for the Psychology of Religion (IAPR) holds bi-annual conferences that serve as a meeting point for scholars from all over the world to share the latest research findings in the field. We are pleased and honored to announce that the IAPR Conference 2019 will be held in Gdańsk, Poland and will take place from August 31st - September 3rd.

This year, we would like to summarize the current knowledge within the title Psychology of Religion and Spirituality: New Trends and Neglected Themes. As the first decade of new millennium ends, we invite participants to reflect on what we have achieved so far and what we can still do as researchers.

Keynotes:

Prof. Halina Grzymała-Moszczyńska, Prof. Peter C. Hill, Prof. Sebastian Murken and Prof. Gerard Saucier. They are all world-leading researchers in psychology, religion and spirituality, beliefs, culture and cross-cultural studies.

The gathering will also feature a special symposium dedicated to psychology of work and religion, prepared by Prof. David Miller and Dr. Nicoleta Acatrinei. In addition, we invite submissions in the form of sessions, individual papers, and posters. We hope that the program will reflect the essence of the theme we have adopted as well as many fresh ideas from other parts of the field.

Important dates:

Open registration 1st of Nov. 2018

Deadline for abstracts is extended: MARCH 1st, 2019
